

$3 Million Development Planned for Section 14

Apartments Requested on Indian Land

By PEYTON CANARY

Plans for a $3 million apartment development for the heart of Section 14 were disclosed during a zone change hearing before the Palm Springs Planning Commission Wednesday.

Planners Delay Zone Decisions

The Palm Springs Planning Commission Wednesday swept three service station applications for North Palm Canyon Drive into an unspecified limbo, and continued the renewed application by George E. Goldberg for R-3 hotel and apartment zoning on East Ramon Road.

Goldberg, who seeks an apartment development with approximately 94 units for lots on the south side of Ramon Road between Compadre Road and El Cielo Road, has sought his apartment zoning eight years.

"I think I'm entitled to it," he told the commission. Goldberg, who told the commission he has a similar development near the plush Phoenix Country Club, said he planned a one and two-story project, with broad vistas of grass and pool area to the south.

The hearing was continued to the Feb. 7 meeting, when Goldberg will present a plot plan.

The three filling station applications drew a one motion denial after Commission John Seaman pointed out that there "is plenty of time." William Foster added that "there will be a design shopping center up there (on North Palm Canyon Drive) before the tramway is completed."

The applications were by Sally Stevens Nichols, for a station at North Palm Canyon Drive and the tramway access road; Lib Bott, who sought a station at San Marco Way and North Palm Canyon Drive; and the MEF Land Company, which sought a station at Yorba Road and North Palm Canyon Drive.

The application by Richfield Oil Co. for complete rebuilding of its station at North Palm Canyon Drive and Granva Valmonte was continued to Feb. 7.

Chamber in State Plan Opposition

Opposition to the creation of a new state bureau to promote tourist trade was voiced by the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors at its meeting this morning.

The chamber position will be voiced at a meeting of the Subcommittee of Tourist Trade of the Assembly Ways and Means Interim Committee by Chamber Manager Jimmy Cooper. The legislative committee will meet next week at Anaheim in a public discussion.

While it opposed a new State Bureau, the chamber board favored state support of a program to induce greater tourist traffic to the state. The board recommended to the state. The board recommended that the board recommend should be channeled through existing organizations.

FACILITY EXPANDED

Desert Museum to Open Jan. 15

Expansion of the Palm Springs Desert Museum, a $280,000 job started last April, today is nearly complete and the popular resort attraction is scheduled to reopen Jan. 15.

That's the word from Dr. C. E. Smith, museum director who said the remodeling has doubled the exhibit display area and provides for much greater public facilities. The reopening on Jan. 15 will

James Hollowell, attorney for Tahquitz Development Enterprises, Inc., told the planning board that his firm plans to develop 20 acres of the prime midtown Agua Caliente Indian land.

The land, leased for 60 years, must have $1.5 million in development within the first six years, Hollowell said.

"This property is too expensive for piece meal development," Hollowell told the commission. He emphasized that the Tahquitz Development Enterprises plans for the 20 acre tract is a pace setter, adding that "no one else is close to improving Section 14."

Covers Nine Blocks Tahquitz Development Enterprises, including a Don M. Lee, sought a zone change for the area from trailer, R-1a single family residence and R-2, limited multiple dwelling, to R-3, hotel and apartment zone.

The application was made for blocks 87, 88, 97, 98, 107, 108, 109, and 110 in Section 14, bounded on the north by Amado Road, on the south by Andreas Road, on the west by El Segundo, and on the east by Avenida Caballeros. The commission questioned the R - 3 zoning for the entire area.

First development planned for the 20 acres leased by Tahquitz Development Enterprises is a 22-unit, one and two-story "luxury" apartment at Avenida Caballeros and Andreas Road Hollowell said.

Long Beach architect Ed Killingsworth, designer of the first increment building, told the commission 16 one-bedroom apartments would have 800 square feet; two studio apartments would have 966 square feet, and four two-bedroom apartments would have 1,280 square feet of floor space. He added that all cars would be concealed from the street, in car port areas.

288 Units Planned Hollowell told the hearing that the development is planned for a maximum of 288 units on the entire site, although present zoning would permit more than 600, and R-3 density would permit approximately 1,000 on the section.

"It may take more of the two-story units than we now plan," Hollowell said.

Commission Chairman John Miller observed that "we have spent months working up a plan, but the applications seem poised to the plan or a modification." He added he couldn't see a "square mile of R-3." A square mile, a complete section, is 640 acres.

On motion of Commission Lew Levy, the commission tabled the application for a field trip. It will be renewed in the Jan. 17 commission meeting.

"It would encourage us to know who these people are," Levy told Hollowell, who promised a complete list of the principals for the next meeting.

The attorney asked the commission for speedy consideration, "because the rent on this area is now approximately $10,000 a month." He emphasized the lease could not be altered without express permission of both the allottees involved, and the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs. The Bureau, represented by local director Ray W. Jackson, supported the application.

Spa Radio Station Has Permit

KDES Given FM Approval

Palm Springs radio station KDES has received word from Washington that a permit has been approved for FM (frequency modulation) operations in the desert area, it was announced today.

George E. Cameron Jr., station owner, said that the Federal Communications Commission has granted a request for a full-time operation. The station will operate from the 104.7 spot on the FM dial.

Power of the new station will be 14,400 watts, according to the station's announcement.

Station Manager Norman Loftus said that construction would start immediately on the facilities, and that provisions have already been made for the FM operation in the new studios now being built for the station at Indian Avenue and South Palm Canyon Drive.

"The programming will be the finest of quality music with primarily separate programming for the FM station as compared with the KDES AM programming," Loftus said.

"However there will be certain programs and certain periods when stereophonic programming will be presented through the combined facilities of KDES AM and FM."

It is expected that the station will go on the air for the first time sometime in the early spring, according to the KDES announcement. The station first made the request for the FM facility in December of 1960.

In making the announcement Cameron said that "this new broadcast facility presents to Palm Springs the only local FM service at this time."

Commies Submit New Testing Ban Chamber Votes to Hike Board

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Russia submitted to the United Nations Disarmament Commission today its proposals for a new moratorium on nuclear test explosions.

The Soviet plan ignored the West's demand for international inspection and control.

A Soviet statement to the newly formed, 18-nation Disarmament Commission again blamed the West for failure to reach agreement in the test-ban talks that began in Geneva Nov. 28. The talks are to be resumed Jan. 16.

The Soviet proposals call for agreement among the nuclear powers to ban tests in the atmosphere, underwater and in outer space. The only controls would rest on existing testing devices.

The nuclear powers, Russia said also would put a voluntary ban on underground tests of nuclear weapons until agreement is reached on a system of control over such tests.

No nuclear tests of any kind would be held while the Geneva talks are in progress.

Russia also asked that France be included in test negotiations. The current talks have been restricted to Britain, Russia and the United States.

French Troops, Moslem Rebels Shedding Blood

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — French army troops and Algerian Moslem rebel commandos fought a pitched battle in the center of Algiers today in another day of bloodshed in Algeria.

The death toll in the four days of the new year has risen to more than 70 in the wake of bitter violence between European and Moslem factions over the future of this North African territory. By early afternoon, there were nearly 150 wounded.

Police said that by 6 p.m., five persons had been killed in Oran during the day. Two of the dead were Europeans, one a soldier. There also were 22 wounded, 10 of them Europeans. Two soldiers and a policeman were among the wounded. The police did not specify in what incidents these casualties occurred.

At least 40 were killed and 75 wounded Wednesday, according to official sources, making it the bloodiest single day of 1962. Unofficial reports placed the death toll considerably higher.

When the curfew was lifted in Oran this morning, Europeans struck again at their Moslem rivals in numerous incidents.

But this afternoon it was the rebel National Liberation Front that sent commandos into Oran's Place Marshal Foch, the heart of the city, to spray a cafe with sub-machine gun fire.

A soldier and a policeman fell under the fire, but French Zouaves troops nearby opened up on the Algerians.

Among the cries of wounded passersby and the confusion of a milling crowd of hundreds of young Europeans massed in the square, the rebels took refuge in a nearby house and returned shot for shot with the Zouaves.

An armored vehicle was moved up and its machine guns raked the house. One terrorist fell dead. Eight others finally surrendered.

Nearly an hour after the attack began, French troops still were firing away at the rebel stronghold with grenades and machine guns.

E. Germans Insist on Controls

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Communists today insisted on the right to control official American traffic crossing the East West Berlin border.

The Communists ignored a warning that the United States would not allow its rights to be interfered with, and expressed confidence that a peace treaty would be signed in the foreseeable future to abolish the "long-outmoded, untenable, illegal occupation regime" in West Berlin.

The latest attack on Western rights in the city was contained in editorials and commentaries in the official East German Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland and the official Communist youth organization newspaper Young World.

Young World said Americans driving into East Berlin would have to obey East German regulations and identify themselves just as they would on crossing any international border.

The newspaper denied that the United States had the right of free movement through the Friedrichstrasse crossing point.

Another small U.S. Army convoy entered East Germany today bound for training maneuvers in the West. A U.S. spokesman said the convoy of five vehicles carrying 35 men passed through the Russian Checkpoint at Babelsberg without incident.

Among the cries of wounded passersby and the confusion of a milling crowd of hundreds of young Europeans massed in the square, the rebels took refuge in a nearby house and returned shot for shot with the Zouaves.

Pedestrian Killed by Streetcar

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A "hijacked" streetcar careened off the tracks while rounding a corner Wednesday, killing a pedestrian, and slammed into a fire hydrant and traffic signal.

Killed was Joaquin Perez, about 70, of Los Angeles.

The motorman, Harold R. Heidelberg, 57, was booked on suspicion of involuntary manslaughter. Heidelberg was due to report to his supervisor Wednesday morning after it was learned that he had been treated for an overdose of sleeping pills Monday.

A relief man had been given his route. On reporting to work, Heidelberg took his car and raced ahead of his relief. Heidelberg told him that the dispatcher had made a mistake.

The relief returned and told the dispatcher who reported to the supervisor. The relief and supervisor raced to catch Heidelberg. They were too late.

While being treated at the hospital for an injured hand, Heidelberg mumbled, "I don't know what happened." He said he was going about 15 miles per hour.

Ernest M. Lopez, who on Jan. 12 will complete one year as assistant public defender, at the same time finishing his first year of experience as an attorney, has been named by the board of supervisors to replace E. Scott Dales as public defender.

Dales resigned a few months ago to become a Municipal Court judge.

Lopez will be the first public defender under the new ordinance which reduces the salary for the position from a range of $842 to $1048 per month to $715 to $889 per month and reduces the requirement for three years of law practice, to only one year.

ALMANAC

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, Jan. 4, the 4th day of the year with 361 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1854, Sen. Stephen A. Douglas introduced into the Senate the so-called Nebraska Bill, containing proposals for the organization of the Nebraska Territory.

In 1885, Dr. William W. Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed the first appendectomy in medical history with the patient making a complete recovery.

In 1948, Burma became an independent republic.

A thought for the day: American humorist James Thurber once said: "Early to rise and early to bed makes a male healthy and wealthy and dead."

House Leader Says He is a Plain Democrat

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"I am a Democrat without prefixes or suffixes — a plain Democrat who goes down the line with the main issues of the party."

This self-characterization came today from Rep. Carl Albert, 53, a quiet-spoken Oklahoman who is slated to become the new Democratic leader of the House.

Thus, Albert rejected the description applied to him by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who tried to defeat Albert for the leadership—and failed.

Bolling, 45, who was Albert's only challenger, withdrew from the race Wednesday. He told a news conference he had decided not to put his strength to the test at a caucus of the 258 House Democrats next week because "I do not have enough support to win."

Bolling made it plain that he regarded this as a defeat for liberalism. He called himself a liberal. He described Albert as a "liberal with reservations."

He said the late Speaker Sam Rayburn was "indeed a liberal," but he pointedly refused to characterize Rep. John W. McCormack, 70-year-old Boston Irishman, who will succeed Rayburn as speaker next week.

Albert's friends were miffed at Bolling's remarks which came in response to newsmen's questions. Albert said he had high regard for Bolling and hoped there were "no personal feelings."

Although he took a less liberal stance on civil rights legislation than Bolling, Albert supported the civil rights laws of 1957 and 1960 in the form in which they were finally enacted.

Bus, Where's The Driver

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—"Bus 392, where's your driver?"

That is what puzzled police asked themselves Wednesday when they were called to the busy intersection of Forbes and Shady Avenues to investigate reports of an abandoned bus.

Frank C. Seitz, 51, an employee of the Pittsburgh Railways Co. for 15 years, walked away from his bus at the intersection after a group of high school students became unruly.

"I could not put up with it any longer," Seitz told police.

"They filled the bus to the doors," he said. "I couldn't get another passenger aboard. They carried on in a sinful, shameful way."

They just "laughed at me," Seitz said, when he told them to close the windows and stop smoking.

When police arrived at the intersection they said traffic was "getting pretty jammed up." They notified Pittsburgh Railways which dispatched a tow truck to remove the bus.

There May Be Sgt. York II

PALL MALL, Tenn. (UPI)—Mary Elizabeth York, 18, became a member of the Women's Air Force Wednesday in a brief ceremony at the home of her grandfather, ailing Sgt. Alvin C. York.

York, 74, wanted to see "Goldie" enter the service but he has been bedridden for the past seven years. The Air Force, however, obliged by driving Miss York here from her Rockwood, Tenn., home for the searing-in ceremony.

"It was all right," grinned York, who was drafted into the Army despite conscientious objections during World War I. He singlehandedly killed 25 Germans and captured 132 others. Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of American Expeditionary Forces, called York "the greatest civilian soldier of the war."

Defends Record

In an interview with United Press International, Albert said that his overall voting record might be considered liberal by some and moderate by others but that no one would call him a conservative.

Albert's friends were miffed at Bolling's remarks which came in response to newsmen's questions. Albert said he had high regard for Bolling and hoped there were "no personal feelings."

Although he took a less liberal stance on civil rights legislation than Bolling, Albert supported the civil rights laws of 1957 and 1960 in the form in which they were finally enacted.

Apply for New Funds

Authorization to submit an application for available state funds to provide salaries for two new positions cut from the 1961-62 budget by the board of supervisors, has been granted by the board to Welfare Director John McIntyre.

The positions are a placement officer to enhance employment opportunities for public assistance recipients and a programmer to handle welfare programming.

The fund was created by 1961 legislation for institution or expansion of public services or for new methods and practices to increase efficiency or community usefulness of the welfare department. The allocation available to Riverside County is $15,500. The money would be returned to the general pool for distribution to counties which have filed applications if an application were not made before February 1.

Antol's Lump In His Stomach Was Just Money

Antol Gonzales, 680 E. Amado Road, may get a bank for his money.

Antol arrived at Plaza Motors at 5:16 p.m. Wednesday saying he didn't feel well. In fact, he had something of a lump in his stomach, he told Fred Castle. The lump was his nickel, Antol explained. He said he swallowed his nickel, apparently while testing the coin for firmness.

Antol, who is seven years old, was delivered to his parents. He seemed fine then, a Palm Springs policeman reported.

Crosby Kid Christened

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—The seventh child of singer Bing Crosby was christened Nathaniel Patrick Crosby Wednesday at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church.

The infant was the third child born to Crosby and his wife, actress Kathy Grant. He was born Oct. 28 while Crosby was in London working with Bob Hope on a film.

The crooner has been undergoing a complete physical checkup at St. John's hospital in Santa Monica, Calif., but doctors emphasized he was not being treated for an illness.

Crosby has four adult sons—Gary, Philip, Dennis and Lindsay. Harry Lillis Crosby Jr., 3, and a daughter, Mary Frances, are the other children born to Bing and Kathy.

One Week Delay on Astronaut

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—Scientists working to put a U.S. astronaut into orbit this month were expected today to iron out rocket troubles which have pushed the shot at least one more week deeper into the calendar.

The difficulty cropped up "almost overnight" during a routine check of the Atlas booster rocket fuel tanks, and forced the $400 million Mercury program to postpone plans for sending astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. on the orbital voyage Jan. 16.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration rescheduled the launching for Jan. 23—a date which still will be subject to change if more problems are encountered.

Informed sources said the tankage problem was not a serious one, but that it created a bad situation because the routine check of this system falls into a sequence of tests which must follow in a certain order.

"They've almost got it squared away now," one source told United Press International early today. "The problem actually involved a delay of only 24 to 48 hours, but the space agency decided to give us a week more to simplify the problem of dispatching the recovery fleet."

He explained that this will give technicians enough additional time to make sure the problem is solved, without running the risk of sending the fleet to sea "to sit out there for nothing for days and maybe weeks."

U.S. Still Seeks Laos Settlement

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States still hopes to persuade pro-Western Premier Prince Boun Oum of Laos to accept a compromise which would break the deadlock on a peace settlement in the jungle kingdom, it was reported today.

Informed sources close to the 14-nation Laos talks here said U.S. diplomats in Vientiane are trying to persuade Boun and his "strong man" defense minister, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, to accept a solution proposed a week ago by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Souvanna suggested that he serve as defense minister and interior minister as well as premier in a proposed coalition government to settle a dispute between the government and the Communists led by Souvanna's halfbrother, Prince Souphanouvong.

Both the government and the Reds wanted to control the interior (police) and defense ministries in the new government.

With formal negotiations among the three princes broke down last week, informed sources said enough headway was made in backstage talks to solve most problems other than the deadlock over the two ministries.

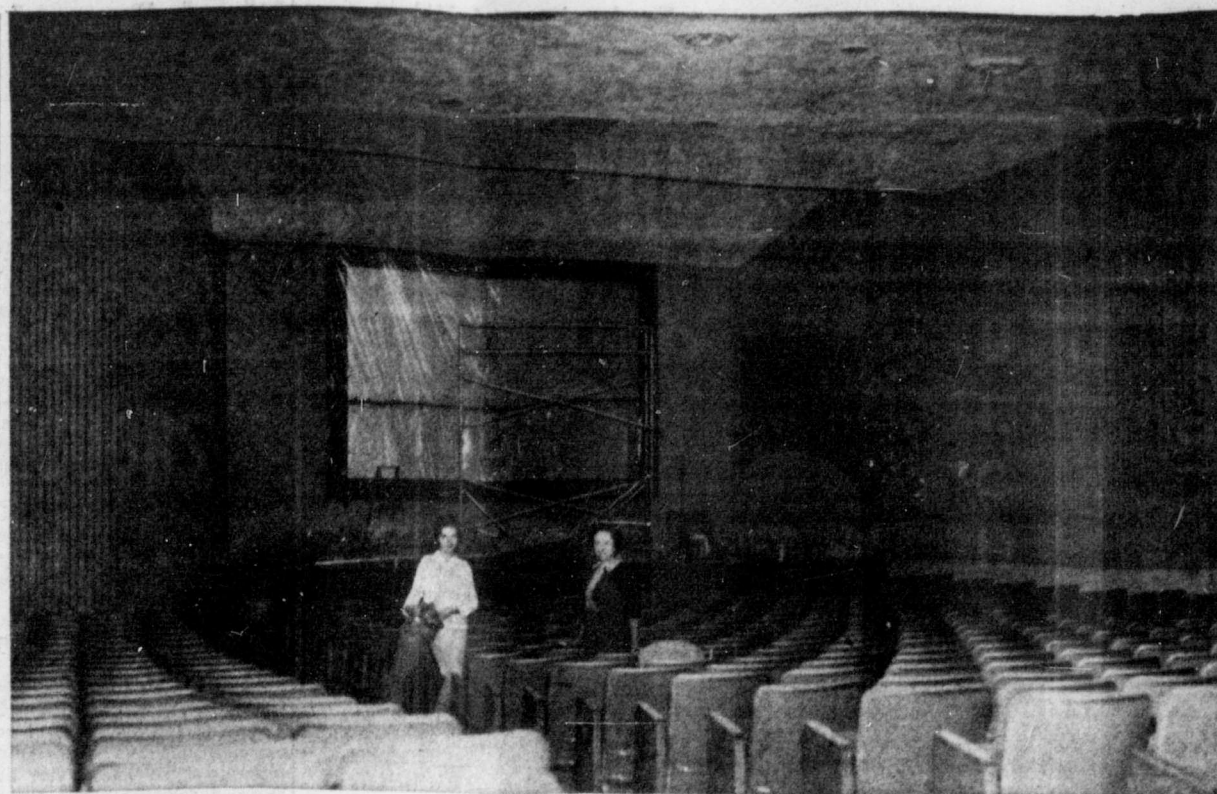

The talks here were temporarily suspended pending the expected arrival of Souvanna with a new formula for settlement.

The neutralist prince landed in Zurich today, ostensibly on the way to Paris to visit his family. He made no secret, however, of the fact that his real purpose was to "submit new proposals for a solution."

Teamster Union's Book Undergoing New Probe

DETROIT (UPI) — A little-known arm of the federal government has been given the job of digging through the books of the Teamsters Union.

Federal investigators who appeared Wednesday at two teamster locals in Detroit and Pontiac belonged to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Management Reports.

They are examining the records of Detroit Local 209, home local of union President James R. Hoffa, and Local 614 in Pontiac.

The Detroit office of BLMR is headed by Louis Woiwode, a former FBI agent. Since 1960, his investigators have processed about 400 cases.

The BLMR was set up under the Labor Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959. The act requires unions to file financial reports with the BLMR.

The Supreme Court ruled the bureau had the right to also examine records from which the reports were filed if it finds "reasonable basis" for questioning the union fund-handling reports.

That was what happened in the case of the two teamsters locals. Investigators showed up at both locals Wednesday to take possession of the records.

Woiwode said the records would be audited at the local offices.

All of Them Were Too Dirty

LYNWOOD (UPI)—Getting behind with the weekly laundry apparently is a problem for men as well as women.

Tuesday, industrious housewives were attempting to avoid the problem by doing their wash in a public laundromat. Then a man walked in with a bundle of clothes. The women ran onto the street screaming.

The man was naked.

World Diamond Demand Shows Upward Trend During 1962

NEW YORK (UPI)—World demand for diamonds, both gem and industrial grades, continued to rise in 1961 with sales of rough diamonds for the first nine months of the year reaching a record high of $194,095,079.

The industry's Central Selling Organization in London reported that total sales for 1961 are expected to exceed the previously highest record set for one year, 1959, when sales amounted to $255,180,640. Sales in 1960 were $251,161,072.

it increased steadily throughout the world, especially in Western Europe.

Gem diamonds account for about 65 per cent of the sales figure, with industrials making up the remainder. In carat weight, however, industrial diamonds make up about 80 per cent of the diamonds marketed each year.

The demand for gem and industrial diamonds remained highest in the United States, although

Mosk Report Shows Drug Violations

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A comprehensive report released by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk showed that 19,243 adults and juveniles were arrested in California during 1960 for narcotics possession, sale or use.

About two-thirds of the arrests were in Los Angeles County and 83 per cent were in Southern California, according to the report prepared by the Bureau of Criminal Statistics.

The report contained data which conflicts with two widely held ideas about the narcotics problem. It said figures strongly indicate that "the narcotics offender is first a criminal before he becomes involved in narcotics activity, and that less than 1 per cent of adult arrests were for sale of narcotics to a minor."

More than two - thirds of new narcotics offenders had criminal histories at the time of their first recorded narcotics arrest, the report said.

"On this basis, the statement that narcotic offenders are forced into a life of crime to support their narcotic habit cannot be supported by the facts available," it said.

AID FOR CYPRUS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States will give Cyprus 50,000 tons of food for famine relief, according to Food for Peace Director George McGovern.

Katanga Agent Tied In Recognition Buy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department said Wednesday that Michel Streulens, head of the Katanga Information Service in New York, was "involved in an attempt to purchase recognition for Katanga as a sovereign nation."

State Department press officer Lincoln White made the announcement but declined to provide details. News reports said Streulens offered Costa Rica $1 million if it would formally recognize the secessionist government of President Moise Tshombe.

White said the attempt "was consistent with the many other efforts that Mr. Tshombe has made to obtain recognition for the Katanga as a sovereign nation."

"All of these efforts have failed," he added.

Other officials privately identified Costa Rica as the country involved. They said the San Jose government indignantly rejected the offer.

Streulens, who was set up in New York by Tshombe last year with a budget of more than $140,000, is a Belgian national. He entered the United States on a visa granted to him as the information representative of a foreign agency. The State Department ordered his visa cancelled last September, declaring that he was engaged in activities other than those for which he had been admitted to this country.

White said, however, that as far as he knew no effort had been made to force Streulens to leave the United States.

American officials have charged privately that the Katanga Information Service presented a very distorted picture of United Nations efforts to restore peace in the Congo. They assert that Streulens claimed on a number of occasions that U.N. forces were shooting at Katanga forces when the reverse actually was true.

GROWING WITH PALM SPRINGS

... featuring recent construction in our area

"Unique" is the word for Palm Springs Desert Museum. And now it, too, is growing with Palm Springs. As the result of a gift from the estate of Mrs. Alexander Marcuse, the Desert Museum this month will open the doors of an auditorium seating 360, plus additional facilities on a new second floor.

The original part of the Museum building opened in 1947—a converted Army building, on land donated by Miss Cornelia White. Always emphasizing desert flora and fauna, the enlarged Museum will feature habitat groups, fossil and mineral collections, as well as exhibits pertaining to native Cahuilla Indians and desert pioneers. The new second floor will house a library board room, a dark room, laboratory, storage, air conditioning, and additional exhibition space.

The Palm Springs Desert Museum is a non-profit community organization, supported by tax-deductible donations. Memberships range from $5 per person or $10 per family—up, depending upon the generosity of the donor. Santa Fe Federal is proud to salute the Palm Springs Desert Museum, whose able staff, board and members foster interest and research into the unique history, plant and animal life of the desert.

The pattern of life is a happy blend of the old and the new in Karachi, Pakistan, where modern buildings contrast sharply with the ancient mode of transport used by many. City is the nation's main port of entry.

New Ways in an Old City

Loaded shotgun at his side, old soldier guards doors to Bank of India.

THE BUSTLING metropolis of Karachi, Pakistan, is an incongruous contrast of the old and the new that constantly fascinates the thousands of visitors to this ancient seaport, a gateway of the western world to inner Asia. Although its vivid contrasts are a delight to see, the blending of the old and the new sometimes embarrasses the progressive Pakistanis, who are trying to build a new nation and create a new image of their land in the eyes of the world.

Karachi was the capital until last year when the seat of government was moved to Rawalpindi where the new capital, to be called Islamabad, will be built. However, to the Moslems, Hindus, Christians, Parsees and Buddhists who jam its narrow streets Karachi is still, and always will be, their "capital."

These photos depict the contrasting ways of life that are taken for granted by Karachi's citizens. Here, well-groomed businessmen and ragged peasants rub elbows on the busy streets, and shabby sidewalk vendors vie with modern shops for customers. All are an integral part of the scene in Karachi today, a city whose past is always present.

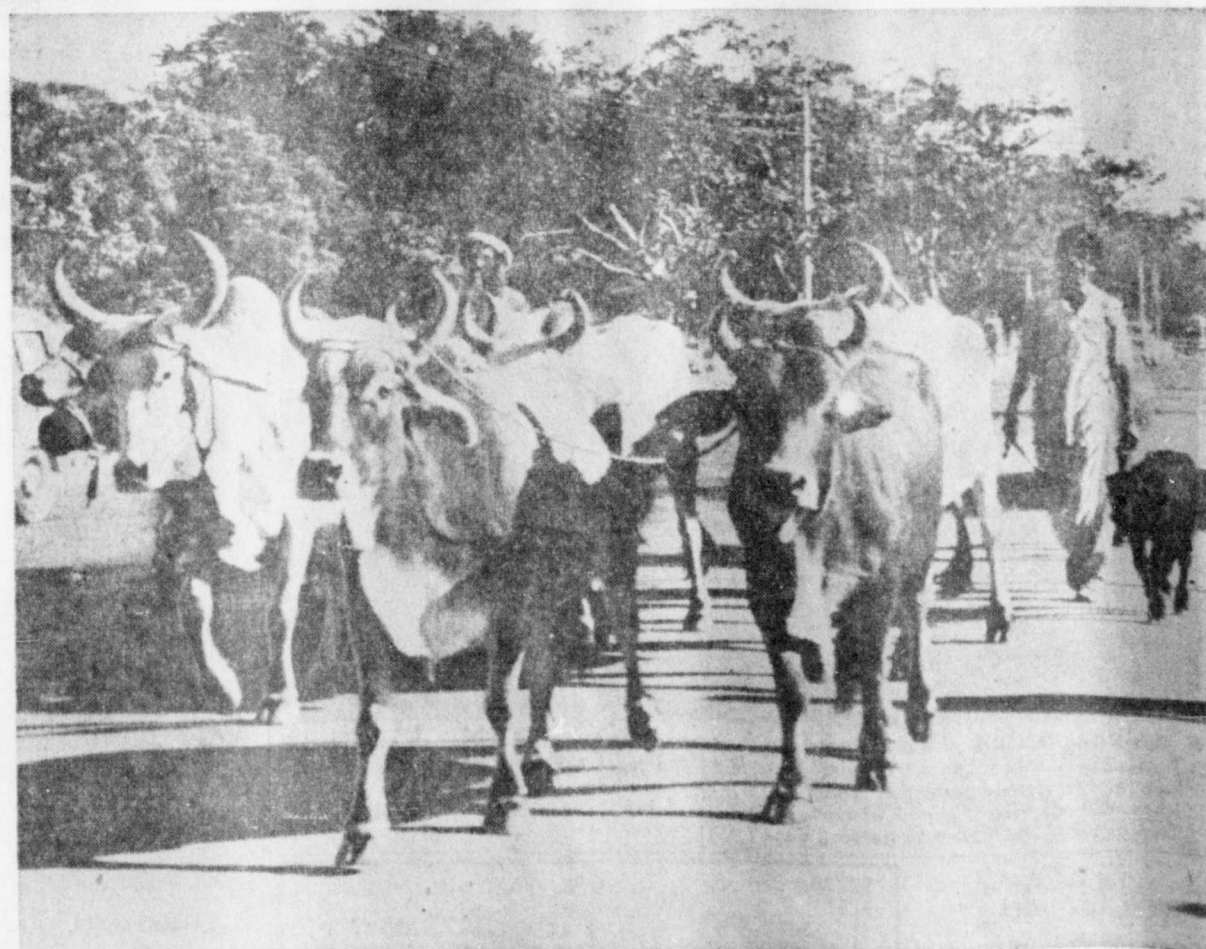

Horsepower and footpower roll side by side down a main street of the city as a shiny new English taxi and a simple bicycle-cab carry their fares through the business section of Karachi.

Karachi sugar cane dealers display wares in a crowded marketplace while air-conditioned apartment looms behind them.

Two barefoot vendors haul a heavy load through a congested shopping section of Karachi. For the ordinary shopkeepers, unable to afford Western trucks and wagons, porters do all the hauling.

A cattle farmer drives a small herd of steers down a modern, tree-lined boulevard, en route to a farmer's market located in the heart of the city. Autos detour around them on the busy highway.

Sawyers Host Indo-Chinese Dinner Party

Friends of Cliff and Lou Sawyer were treated to an Indo-Chinese dinner prepared by the hostess, when they gathered at the Sawyers' Araby home.

Among the guests enjoying the feast were: Admiral Richard Nichols and his wife Louise, son Ricki who is a senior at Annapolis, and daughter, Suzy, an art student, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schulte of Casper, Wyoming and Palm Springs and their three sons, Jerry who is a medical student, Freddie who is studying art, and Dick who is home from Germany on leave from the United States Army. Mrs. Schulte is opening the new Powers School on McCallum Way, which was decorated by the Sawyers.

Also: Anita Haskell Jones and Harold Goldsmith, former publisher of Argosy magazine; Commander and Mrs. John Bernet, County Supervisor and Mrs. George Berkey and Cleo Blunt.

'Las Posadas' Ends This Week At Padua Hills

"Las Posadas," famed story of Christmas in Old Mexico, began the final week of its run at Padua Hills Theatre yesterday.

The production, like all plays at Padua Hills, above Claremont, is presented six times weekly, with both matinee and evening performances every Wednesday and Saturday, and evening stagings each Thursday and Friday. Thus the final curtain of "Las Posadas," presented by The Mexican Players, will close on the 30th consecutive season Saturday night.

"Viva Jalisco," romantic comedy from one of the most exotic regions of Mexico, opens a run of seven weeks beginning January 10.

The scintillating production, filled with songs and dances from Jalisco, is directed by Eligio Herrera, and is being acclaimed by The Mexican Players during present rehearsals, as one of the "happiest, tune-filled productions" ever staged at Padua Hills Theatre.

"Viva Jalisco" is billed as the comedy "where fiesta ends in romance," and will present settings and costumes with the typical authenticity of all Padua productions.

Merienda, where favorite songs and dances are performed at the request of patrons, follows each performance of the play.

The Mexican Players also entertain daily except Mondays at luncheon and dinner in the dining room of non-profit Padua Institute.

Reservations may be made by calling National 6-1288. Padua Hills is located three miles north of Foothill Boulevard, Claremont.

Save Collars

Your husband's shirt collars will last longer if he'll remember to slip his necktie into place under the collar before donning his shirt. This procedure is better than forcing the collar up and back down again after it has been buttoned. Staintons Host Party in New Home at Thunderbird

A portrait of Mrs. Eric Stainton, which was set over the mantle in the drawing room, seemed to welcome guests to the cocktail buffet, which the Staintons hosted in their new Thunderbird home.

A 17th century Waterford glass chandelier complemented the period furniture that was set in the unusual round dining room, where guests sampled Santos' excellent food.

Fresh fruit and white tapers set in antique silver candelabra centered the buffet table which offered cubed tenderloin, iced shrimp, a variety of canapes, crab newburg and smoked whitefish.

The home overlooks the 12th fairway, and Mrs. Stainton's boudoir has its own personal garden which houses a copy of Verocchio's Boy with Dolphin. Mrs. Stainton's taste was also reflected in the gleaming silver tree set in the patio garden, beside the pool.

Among those present at the Staintons' holiday party were: Messrs. and Mmes. J. L. Abernathy, W. A. Ambrose, Glenn Austin, Harold Ames, Arthur E. Bailey, George Barrett, Warren Bean, Frank J. Alf Landon Bolt Was Just Phony

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The report of a prospective bolt of Alf M. Landon to the Democratic Party was not merely premature. It was phony. For those who came in late: Alf M. Landon was the 1936 Republican presidential nominee.

The bolt report circulated after Landon spoke here on Dec. 8 to the National Press Club. He spoke approvingly of lower tariff barriers and of President Kennedy's ideas about the European common market. A letter from Landon just has arrived that puts his position in better focus and that seems to rule out any bolt to the Democrats now or later.

"I didn't go so far as to suggest that we join the 'common market,' he wrote to me. 'I used the words 'the concept of the common market.'"

And further:
1st. The Budget
"You will find in my talk a flat statement of what President Kennedy would have to do on his fiscal policies—whatever may be our approach to the common market problem."

The statement was this:
"The first requirement for America's admittance to the common market will be a balanced budget—a budget balanced to halt the ravages of inflation and to check the present draining of U.S. gold."

"Last September, Secretary of Treasury C. Douglas Dillon was forced by England and France to pledge the balancing of our budget in 1963 before the United States could get credit from the International Monetary Fund. If we are not wondering about ourselves financially, our friends and enemies are. Steady weakening of the American dollar by continued inflation and an unfavorable trade balance could lead to climactic Cold War victory for the Russians and the Chinese."

Landon sent a copy of his speech and a clipping from the Concordia (Kans.) Blade-Empire. He got some amusement from the fact that the significance of his fiscal lecture to Kennedy was missed when he spoke here and the common market phrase was over-emphasized.

Took A Woman
"It took a gal reporter out in the middle of rural Kansas to pick up," Landon wrote, "what was missed by all of the wise men in the East."

Landon's gal reporter was Marion Ellet who writes a column called "Mugwump Musings" for the Blade-Empire. Miss Ellet put her finger smack on the balanced budget part of Landon's speech.

Alf Landon looked younger, happier and healthier when he visited Washington in early December than most of us who had covered his 1936 presidential campaign remembered him. That was a tough year for Landon. He carried only Maine and Vermont.

If Landon actually could shuck the years to make the calendar conform to his appearance he would be a good bet in 1964 for the Republicans. He might like that under such circumstances. There was a P.S. to his letter: "Lyle, by the way, did not Taft in 1912 carry only Maine and Utah?"

Yep, Alf, and he got eight electoral votes. That was your 1936 score, also. I wish you could try again.

Believing in Astrology Grave Sin

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican weekly Osservatore Della Domenica said today that astrologers who take their work seriously and sincere believers in astrology are guilty of "grave sin."

"If one really believes the future of man can be known by way of the stars and that a horoscope has infallible and deciding value, one is committing (at least materially) a grave sin," said an article written by Father Reginald Frascisco.

The article said persons who prepare horoscopes with the expectation that people will believe in them also are grave sinners.

STATE DEPARTMENT SAYS:

Cuban Charges Vague

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department said today that Cuba's protest that U.S. planes and ships violated Cuban territorial rights 119 times in the last six months are so "vague" and undocumented that it may not even reply.

Department press officer Lincoln White said the Cuban note, which was presented to the department Tuesday by Czechoslovakia's Ambassador Miloslav Ruzek, failed to identify characteristics of the planes or ships that allegedly violated Cuban sovereignty and did not say where the incidents were supposed to have occurred.

Czechoslovakia represents Cuba's interests here since the breaking off of diplomatic relations a year ago between Havana and Washington.

White said that "given the vagueness and rather 'yawny' character of these allegations, I can't tell you whether there will be any formal reply."

The U.S. spokesman said the Cubans alleged that out of 119 violations of their territory, 76 were made by planes and helicopters from the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo on the eastern tip of Cuba. He said that at one point in the lengthy document, the Cubans cited alleged violations of territorial waters by four cruisers, three submarines, five destroyers, two transports and a tug. There was speculation the protest may be the opening gun in a Fidel Castro propaganda campaign against U.S. use of Guantanamo.

HOLLYWOOD

Maureen O'Hara Plays Grandma

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—That noise you hear is your arteries hardening, and you'll notice the volume increase with news that Maureen O'Hara is playing a grandmother in her latest movie.

It seems like only the day before yesterday that the flame-haired Irish girl was a mere slip of a coleen.

And if you ask me, her role as a grandmother in "Mr. Hobbs Takes a Vacation" is a case of gross miscasting.

Maureen still looks as if she just got off the boat with a shamrock in one hand and a note from her parents in the other. Strangely, the O'Hara temper makes a fine display when it is hinted that she is miscast as a granny.

28 Film Kids

"I may hold the record for playing mothers in movies," Maureen said, "and I am very proud of the fact. I counted up one time just for the fun of it, and the total came to 28 film children."

"Natalie Wood played my daughter twice, in 'Miracle on 34th Street' and 'Father Was a Fullback.'"

"In this new picture I have four children and three grandchildren, which suits me fine."

Now any actress in her right mind shies away from mother roles for two reasons. It gives her the appearance of being older, taking the spring out of spring chicken. Secondly, appearing in scenes with kids is as murderous as playing run-sheep-run on the Hollywood freeway.

Child actors can steal a scene so deftly that the adult actress has no idea what has happened until she sees the picture and catches herself watching the child instead of her own performance.

Thus mother roles go begging.

But bad as they are, grandmother parts are worse. One, the children are younger, and, two, the actress appears to be even older.

"I like to work with children," Maureen said in her 20th Century-Fox dressing room.

Challenged on this reckless remark, the O'Hara temperament once more was in evidence. "I certainly do enjoy it," she said, her brogue thickening, "or why else would I work with so many youngsters?"

Top-of-the-world feeling

(His Dad shares the feeling—thanks to the family's new car that's backed by a quality dealer and quality service.)

THIS MESSAGE appeared in the January 6th issue of The Saturday Evening Post. Each year The Post takes this means of acknowledging and publicizing the very considerable factor in the general economy of every community represented by the authorized new car dealers.

IN PALM SPRINGS, DURING 1961, YOUR NEW CAR DEALERSHIPS MADE OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE PALM SPRINGS ECONOMY.

Tom, Jr. isn't driving a 2-foot-power kiddie car. He's pretending he's behind the wheel of his Dad's spanking-new 1962 convertible and he's having the ride of his life.

Who had the best time—Tom or Tom, Jr.—when they picked out their new car at their franchised new car dealer? Hard to say. Both saw the widest collection of new models ever. Saucy compacts. Glamorous hardtops. Wagons that would hold a power mower, a Great Dane, and a Little League team. And the convertible they couldn't resist.

They saw a lot of other things. The dealer's big building. All the costly equipment he's invested in for the proper servicing of modern cars. Four men in the service department for every man in the showroom. You see, Tom's dealer is a true exponent of the free enterprise system. He's going to be in business for a long time.

To Tom's dealer—and to thousands like him—making the sale is the beginning, not the end, of the transaction. He takes the old car in trade. Arranges insurance and financing. Preconditions each new car. Inspects each car he's sold at regular intervals. Provides a huge inventory of spare parts (for every model, for every year). Stands ready to provide dozens of different services.

No small job, all this. No wonder Tom is feeling happy and satisfied about his new car. He knows his valuable new car is watched over by a dealer who is a respected member of his community—a man who is civic-minded—who is the kind you would want to do business with.

Some day Tom, Jr. will have outgrown his kiddie car, his scooter, and his bicycle and will be ready for the big step up to his own car. The same dealer that sold cars to his father will be there—ready to help and provide complete, dependable automotive service. Once again, Tom, Jr. will feel like he's on top of the world!

YELP OF DELIGHT

LA Angels Start to Mail 1962 Contracts

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

And now big league ball players start to find out whether it really is going to be a happy new year. The last "Season's Greetings" card has arrived in the mail but there's a big, fat envelope due any day: this year's contract. Major league general managers—no Scrooges, they—held 'em back through the holiday season but now it's back to business and don't forget to read the fine print. The Los Angeles Angels announced Wednesday that 1962 contracts have been mailed or will be mailed by the end of the week. There will be many a yelp of delight but there will also be some screams of anguish when the documents are opened. "Some will be happy and some will be unhappy when they receive their contracts," said general manager Buzzie Bavasi of the Dodgers, sounding the keynote of management. Bavasi previously had indicated a belief that the Dodgers lost the 1961 National League pennant in the wee hours of the morning and that punitive action could be expected.

Dodgers in line for healthy increases, however, are NL strike-out king Sandy Koufax, 18-game winner Johnny Podres, .328-hitting Wally Moon, shortstop Maury Wills and rookie relief star Ron Perranoski.

Vice president Chub Feeney of the Giants said that Orlando Cepeda, whose 46 homers led the NL in 1961, would receive a "good raise" and also indicated that Willie Mays might jump from $85,000 to $90,000. Most other Giants, however, are advised to open their envelopes carefully, lest they receive second-degree burns.

The Red Sox revealed they have sent 1962 contracts to 38 players, including outfielder Jackie Jensen, whose reluctance to fly makes him a doubtful performer this year.

Villanova Romps on Seton Hall

By DICK JOYCE

United Press International
As Hubie White goes, so go Villanova's basketball fortunes. That's been the story so far of White's career at Villanova and his brilliant play during his senior year has catapulted the sixth-ranked Wildcats into one of the winningest teams in the nation with a 12-0 record.

White's 30 points Wednesday night led Villanova to a 99-67 romp over Seton Hall at the Villanova Field House, knocking the Pirates from the ranks of the undefeated.

White, a 6-3, 195-pounder, was a sparkplug as a sophomore as Villanova posted a 20-6 mark, but was a disappointment along with the rest of the Wildcats last season when they won only 11 of 24 games. So far for the 1961-62 campaign White's shooting and all-around fine play has kept the Philadelphiaans undefeated, including their rush in the Quaker City Tournament title last week.

DREAMS OF 'BIG SLAM'

Palmer Goes Back to Work on Golf Game

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI)—Pride is a personal commodity, Arnold Palmer confessed today, which has no price.

Two years ago, this being 1962, Palmer was the hottest item in golf since invention of the steel shaft. He was the leading money winner in the game but, more important, he captured both the U.S. Open golf championship and the coveted Masters.

All he made last year was money. "Now wait a minute," Palmer cautions. "I won the British Open last year and that's one of the big four."

There was a time. But not any more. The British Open today is strictly for the boys from Kokomo the prestige seekers who can't make it on the big time and go abroad to knock off a flock of paties and trade on the prestige of the past. But the truth is that the British Open today attracts only those who couldn't finish among the top 20 on the U.S. pro-golf tour.

Prove the Point
Exceptions have been Ben Hogan, who won it on his only shot; Sam Snead, who captured it the only time he tried; and Palmer, who finished second by one shot in a rain-swept fluke the first time and went right back to knock it off. Yet the ease of their accomplishments merely serve to prove that it has become a cheap, grab-bag contest in which competition is at a minimum. Palmer, despite his rich diet

Big 5 Looks at Big 10 Proposal on Rose Bowl

By ALEX KAHN

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The Big Five took under consideration today a proposal from the Big Ten that the two organizations again sign a contract to act as foes in the Rose Bowl.

Nothing has been signed and nothing will be for the next few weeks. But the chances appeared very strong that the two athletic organizations again would see eye-to-eye on the post season classic and agree to another "open end" contract.

The Big Ten proposed a renewal of a contract that was substantially the same as it had with the now defunct Pacific Coast Conference in previous years. This contract banned any team from the Big Ten from coming to the Rose Bowl more often than once in two years. The Big Five can send its champion every year.

Council To Study Bid
There is some talk that some member of the Big Five want the Big Ten to send its champion every year.

"The Big Ten has its problems," said Jess Hill, athletic director at USC and one of the men attending the negotiating sessions. "And we have ours. We'll be studying their proposals."

Tom Hamilton, executive director of the Big Five, said he would offer the Big Ten proposals to the Big Five Council, which consists of athletic directors and faculty representatives.

"I don't know when we'll meet to consider the offer," said Hamilton. "It probably will be sometime after the NCAA meeting in Chicago Jan. 10-12."

The next regularly scheduled Big Five meeting is in June—but it is expected that the decision will be made long before then.

Hamilton would make no predictions on whether the Big Five would accept the Big Ten proposals. But another representative of the Big Five said:

"I think you are on the right track if you predict that we'll sign an accord with the Big Ten."

The "open end" contract would call for a pact that would last indefinitely. It would require that two years notice would have to be given by either side before it could be terminated.

Tennis Meet At Racquet Club Set

The Twelfth Blue Ribbon Tennis Tournament is scheduled to begin on the courts at the Racquet Club Saturday, Jan. 13 with some of Southern California's finest tennis players participating.

Airline Records Show Good, Bad

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's airlines compiled one of the best safety records but the worst financial losses in aviation history during a hectic and controversial 1961.

Two major mergers, a battle-royal over fares, a rash of hijackings and DC8 hydraulic troubles were among the major aviation stories of the year. But the most significant events of 1961 were told in these coldly impersonal statistics:

—The major scheduled airlines wound up the year with a net loss of $30 million, the first red ink report for the industry as a whole in 13 years and the worst financial beating in history. Only four carriers actually lost money — Northeast, TWA, Eastern and National—but the remaining seven turned in such modest profits that not a single one earned the 10.5 per cent investment return deemed fair by the Federal government.

—All scheduled airlines turned in the third best safety record since 1938 when the Federal government began compiling accident statistics; as of mid-December, there had been only three fatal crashes involving scheduled airlines with 122 passenger deaths. This added up to a fatality rate of 0.32 per 100-million passenger miles, an achievement surpassed only by the 0.07 rate of 1954 and 0.20 in 1957.

Reasons For Decline
The reasons advanced for the airlines' economic decline in 1961 were almost as numerous as the airlines themselves. But several factors stood out:

—1961 saw a continuing migration of first class passengers to coach traffic. The 1960 ratio was 51.49 per cent in favor of first class, but in 1961 coach traffic accounted for a whopping 57 per cent and some experts estimated this diversion cost the airlines as much as $35 million.

—The airlines expanded seat capacity without drawing additional passengers to fill the seats; more than 150 new jet-powered planes were delivered during the year, and while scores of obsolete piston-engine planes were retired, seat capacity still rose nearly 8 per cent over the previous year while total passengers carried dropped from 57.7 million to 57.6 million.

—While airline revenues rose 4 per cent over 1960, operating costs jumped more than 6 per cent despite a general industry effort to control expenditures.

Seek Fare Increases
At year's end, the airlines were engaged in a family fight over what to do about their financial situation. Virtually every major carrier asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to increase fares particularly for coach service—the latter an obvious effort to half the drain of first class passengers.

But one airline, Continental, stunned the rest of the industry by proposing a new jet economy service (with no meals or liquor service) at fares 25 per cent less than regular coach rates.

Continental wanted to start the new service in December but the CAB, by a narrow 3-2 margin, ordered full hearings on the proposal first—rejecting the arguments of both Continental and the CAB minority who said the only way to tell whether lower fares would attract a profitable number of new passengers would be to try them out for awhile.

Although the rest of the major carriers appeared dead set against lower fares, they did spend the year attempting various promotional fare schemes.

Penalize "No Shows"

The airlines also did something about "no shows"—customers who fail to cancel reservations they don't intend to use. Effective March 1, if the CAB approves, no shows will be subject to penalties of $5 to $50—a proposal so drastic that some airlines admitted the carriers themselves may wind up paying fines for over-booking flights in a kind of mutual punishment agreement.

The airlines' biggest disappointment was the failure of Congress to repeal the 10 per cent Federal transportation tax (repeal in the House failed by only seven votes). It would have amounted to a 10 per cent fare reduction and would have given the industry more flexibility in its own requests for fare increases.

New FAA Head

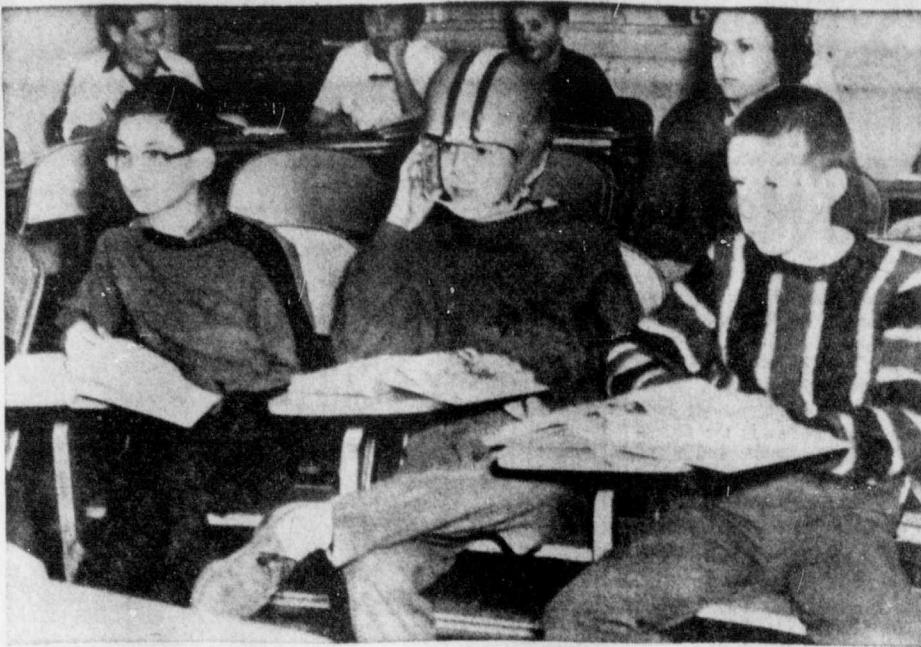

The Federal Aviation Agency got a new chief—personable Nageeb E. Halaby who replaced the colorful and controversial Elwood R. Quesada. But Halaby himself got into something of a controversy himself when an FAA plane he was piloting collided on the ground with a United Air Lines Viscount. Damage was minor, but Halaby found himself in the position of a police chief handed a speeding ticket by one of his own patrolmen — the FAA boss was faced with possible charges of careless operation.

FAA itself produced three special task force reports calling for a long-range air traffic control program, more immediate steps to end the air collision menace, and reforms in the agency's own enforcement and rule-making procedures.

The CAB's major action was approval of the biggest airline merger in aviation history — acquisition of Capital by United, a transaction that ended Capital's 34-year-old existence and made UAL the nation's largest carrier. In mid-December, the CAB was handed another proposed airline marriage—National and Continental—and it was apparent that 1962 may see more mergers in an effort to reduce the airlines' admittedly excessive competition.

The year's worst tragedy was the crash of a non-scheduled Imperial Airlines plane at Richmond, Va., killing 74 Army recruits. It marred a year in which all airlines made impressive strides toward greater safety—a significant achievement which earned few headlines but contained hope for a brighter future.

IN EAST BERLIN

Only Turkish Bath Is Worth Western Cash

BERLIN (UPI)—About the only East Berlin item worth a Westerner's money these days is a Turkish bath—except that it takes hours of cutting red tape to reach the steam room.

And it is not called a Turkish bath any more—it's a "Russian-Roman steam bath." The change apparently was brought about because Turkey is a member of NATO.

An East Berlin steam bath is a curious Communist mixture of hygiene, relaxation, socializing and politics. A trip to one is a day's work.

It takes an hour just for a Westerner to go into East Berlin and another hour to change West German marks into East German money. Communist inefficiency takes half the time. Innumerable passport checks take the rest.

But it takes only five minutes to find that there aren't many things worth buying in the Eastern sector. The few that are—fine Meissen china, for example—can be bought only if one has an official permit to purchase in state-owned stores. Goods in lesser shops are inferior in quality and can be bought more cheaply in the West.

Thus, a Turkish bath is better than nothing—especially since it is impossible to change the East marks back into West marks.

You pay your four and a half marks ($1.10) and enter steam rooms filled with men who look like party functionaries. You'd like to talk to them, but you can't. Conversation is forbidden, according to the list of rules on the wall.

Smoking is "verboten" too. But the two masseurs are human and permit it.

Politics, surprisingly, is also out as a subject for small talk on the massage table. The masseurs are limited to a slap on a customer's stomach and a terse admonition, "Too much beer, sir."

But even in the "Russian-Roman steam bath," one solid Western custom—tipping—still prevails. The attendant made no attempt to refuse a half-pack of American cigarettes as a tip.

"Thanks," he whispered, hurriedly hiding the cigarettes under a pile of towels.

Desert Hospital Accreditation Exam Slated

Desert Hospital in Palm Springs will be examined for three-year accreditation by medical representatives of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals Jan. 9, Robert Henwood, hospital administrator, announced.

The hospital now holds full accreditation from the commission, Henwood explained. Full accreditation, the highest rating obtainable, is renewable every three years.

The joint commission comprises representatives of the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Association, the American College of Physicians, and the American Medical Association.

UNITED STATES, 1961

Dividends Set Record

By S. RICHARD BROWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — American corporations paid their stockholders a record $15 billion in dividends in 1961.

The figure compares with $14.5 billion in 1960 and with $5.8 billion in 1959.

The new record was established despite the fact that some industrial groups paid out less than in 1960. On a dollar basis, these losses were more than offset by gains in all other groups.

Dividend increases and extras were greater than 1960. At the same time there were fewer casualties. As a rule, the closing months traditionally represent the best dividend period of the year, since many companies follow the practice, when their profits permit, of supplementing their regular rates with year-end extras.

The trend at year-end was clearly in the direction of more liberal dividend payments in line with a strong comeback in corporate profits. Dividends, after all, come out of earnings.

There are approximately 15 million persons, according to an estimate by the New York Stock Exchange, who received these dividend checks. Thus, the mythical "average stockholder" received more than $1,000 in cash dividends in 1961.

Stock dividends ranging from 1 per cent to 100 per cent were distributed in volume in 1961. The practice of paying dividends in stock, either in lieu of cash dividends or in combinations, has been gaining favor. The income tax is one reason; another is the desire of a corporation to reward its stockholders while at the same time conserving cash.

In 1961, there were 45 corporations with more than 100,000 stockholders each.

She Worked As Helper On Caboose

SPokane, Wash. (UPI) — An elderly woman tested retirement today following 19 years of "war-time emergency" work as a railroad caboose helper.

Mrs. Edith Fox, 62, who weighs 115 pounds, said her job with the Great Northern railroad was "easy money" despite the daily chores which included loading 100-pound steel forks beneath the caboose.

Mrs. Fox, who retired during the weekend, was one of seven women hired by the railroad in 1942 when men were unavailable because of the war. She took the job after her husband, Donald, suffered a heart attack while doing the same kind of work.

"In 1946 after the war ended they tried to get rid of us," Mrs. Fox said, "but they couldn't make us quit and I wasn't about to."

Mrs. Fox's job called on her to outfit cabooses for trains running out of Spokane. Before the war it was thought that only a man could perform the duties.

But Mrs. Fox said she never took a back seat to any man on the job and many of her tasks would make some menfolk hesitate.

We're On Our Way to a Big Year

We are four days into the new year of 1962 and the forecasts of those who have made a study of economic trends and who should know, continue to mount on the optimistic side.

The California State chamber of commerce, for instance, sees a bright picture ahead for the state—and that means that we, here in Palm Springs, will share in the predictions as we are one of its fastest growing areas.

In its preview of 1962, the state chamber believes that the year will see a continuation of the long-term growth trend California has experienced during recent decades.

In their forward look, the officials of the organization say that the year upon which we are now embarked, should bring what they define as "robust" gains to retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers alike. But they see these gains coming in an orderly manner with no indication of a runaway boom period.

A prediction of more than $60 billion worth of goods and services has been made, based on a survey of many factors.

In a forecast for the labor field, the economic seers see a rise in employment with the total in 1962 reaching 6,770,000 compared to 6,580,000 in 1961.

A substantial increase in personal income from 46 billions last year to 50 billion this year is expected.

Retail sales will also rise and should reach almost 24 billions this year as contrasted with 22½ billions in 1961.

Civilian employment is expected to reach 6,350,000 this year. Last year the figure was 6,115,000.

Manufacturing employment is also expected to increase from 1,346,000 last year to 1,425,000 in 1962.

Population may reach 17,030,000 in California this year. That is three-and-one-half per cent more than the earlier predictions.

Many factors entered into the state chamber's forecasts for this year. The study of these which favorably affect the state's economy include:

An increase in personal consumption expenditures; more than a half million increase in population; increased agricultural commodity production; continued high volume of new construction; increase in automobile registration; greater investments in new plants and equipment; increased federal government purchases in the state; sizeable defense contract allocations which California firms are expected to receive.

In this general gain in the state and the continuation of a healthy "business climate" Palm Springs naturally will share plus some additional factors locally which hold out generous promises.

Statewide and on the local level—Palm Springs and the Desert Empire—1962 is heralded as a good and prosperous year.

We have 361 days remaining to make this bright picture come true—and enjoy it.

The World at Your Finger Tips

Wonderful and exciting progress is being made by the communications industry with its plans for intercontinental message service by using satellites in space, always providing that public ownership obstructionists do not succeed in slowing things down.

Here in Palm Springs we cannot yet take up the receiver and dial Aunt Emma in Goshen, N.Y., or Uncle Zeph down in the Ozarks. But it won't be too long before we'll be able to whirl the dial 10 or a dozen times and great-grandma 2,000 miles away will take down her receiver and quaver, "Hello."

Back in the old laboratory of the telephone companies important steps, less spectacular than using man-made stars to bounce messages across the seas, perhaps, but vital to faster, more convenient communications, are being made.

In many parts of the nation today the party you wish to contact by telephone may be more than 1,000 miles away but you can dial him as easy as a friend in the next block. Soon this will apply to overseas calls. Engineers are making rapid progress along this line and transoceanic operators already can dial special calls direct. The remaining steps to make every call available from your own instrument have been diagrammed, planned and are awaiting only the necessary installations.

As in every other line, there is a catch. Telephone companies are abandoning the use of letters since there are not enough combinations for world-wide long distance. They are using numbers exclusively as you know since the former FAirview was discarded and 3-2 substituted.

So when universal direct dialing is achieved the number you want may contain 12 digits, even more. You had better write them down for you may forget in the middle of the number. But the big risk is thrusting your finger in the wrong digit without realizing it.

Instead of getting Aunt Minnie in Ypsilanti, Mich., you'll be talking to a pretty dish in Xochimilco, Mexico.

And you not only will have trouble explaining it to the wife when the bill comes in but also have trouble in paying that bill.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

The Peace Corps and Conservatives

WASHINGTON, D. C. — On a torrid day last August a lady from the White House phoned and invited me to attend the Rose Garden ceremony at which President Kennedy was giving a send-off talk to the Peace Corps.

I didn't go, and for reasons that aren't very journalistic. The truth is the President always sends me when he makes a patriotic emotional address which this occasion would demand. And the sight of the First Lady in her gracious role practically puts me into a swoon.

There didn't seem any way I could write an objective piece on the Peace Corps — even if I'd wanted to, which I didn't. I have a great big prejudice against an amateur going out on a professional's job. And much of the woe that flesh is heir to, in my opinion, is brought on by the do-gooders, the world-savers, the small people who think they're strutting big when they address their efforts to the cosmos instead of to the neighborhood, and who love the Family of Man, better than men.

You Live and Learn
But you live and learn. Or maybe you just resolve every New Year to write more constructively, and to try to conserve what good there is in any project, rather than condemn it out of hand. Sargent Shriver, the Peace Corps generalissimo, was recently asked on "Meet The Press" why the conservatives have been so reasonably charitable to his out-of-control, by June, will be operating in 20 foreign countries—and, of course, by invitation only. Shriver named some features of the Corps which he thought were attractive to right wing thinkers, and in a subsequent conversation with me he went into it more deeply.

He said that the staunchest Southern Conservatives — Senators Talmadge, Ervin, Jordan, McClellan — had supported the enabling legislation which turned it from a presidential to a national effort. Many voted for the Lower appropriation of $25 million, rather than the $30 million figure which prevailed, but this was not necessarily disapproval of the project, which in every way is the most economical foreign aid measure on the books. Shriver said he had tried to contact Senator Goldwater, the GOP's right wing oracle, but hadn't been able to get to him.

Would Have Agreed
Had Shriver and Goldwater come together they would have had a congenial talk. For many years, long before getting into politics, Goldwater has been director of an Arizona organization, the American Institute For Foreign Trade, which has purposes similar to those of the Peace Corps. Shriver and Goldwater would have agreed, I think, that with the proper selection, the proper training and with objectives narrowly limited to technical training and education, young and eager Americans can be sent to foreign places where they are welcome to do humble work that makes for peace and friendship. The work, if it is pro-American, is automatically anti-Communist. Goldwater is no right rider for the Rightist cause. I think he would feel it takes more courage, and does more good, to attack Communists in Tanganyika and Nigeria than it does in Texas and California.

Initiative, adventure, frugality, go-getterism, pride in America, disapproval of dictatorship and a sense that friendship will come if it will come but can't be bought — all this the conservative philosophy and the Peace Corps have in common.

If things go well, we might have here a late blooming romance and a marriage of true minds.

QUOTES

WASHINGTON — House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck, contending that young people are in the vanguard of a general conservation trend:

"When I came to Congress in 1935 youngsters, especially those in college, thought it was smart to be leftist. It's just the opposite now. They don't like the idea of government spending all this money and leaving the debt for them to pay later."

BRISBANE, Australia — John Hyland, an Australian soldier, who scared off a shark by shouting and blowing air bubbles at it:

"... I took a deep breath and dived straight at it. I blew out air, made bubbles and screamed as loud as I could. Then I turned and swam as fast as possible for shore."

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

Three centuries ago
Sir like told us why
We stick to the ground,
Don't head for the sky.

This day is an important one. You stick to your chair while reading this and don't have to wonder why you're not floating around bumping your head against the ceiling like a balloon. The man who came into this world in 1642 on this comparable date, discovered the reason.

SIR ISAAC NEWTON was a blessed event 320 years this day. When he grew up he became a famous mathematician.

Digressing a bit, at the time of World War II there was a popular song, "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree," the advice of a GI to the girl he left behind him. What this has to do with Newton and your present stability follows:

Sir Isaac did what the jealous GI told his girl not to do. He sat under an apple tree.

AND HE WAS KONKED by an over-ripe Winesop or something like that. But the way it is with scientists, he didn't stop to feel the resultant lump on his noggin. He started figuring, went around dropping stones from various heights and came up with the Law of Gravity which has never been repealed although they are trying to at Cape Canaveral.

Gravity is good as it keeps us from soaring around bumping into each other in the sky instead of on the sidewalk.

IT'S TWO-FACED, however, because it makes us keep dropping things and we have to stoop over which is bad for those who think dieting is foolish. It makes them huff and puff.

And if what we drop is fragile, we have to tell the wife the dog did it.

Gravity exemplifies what is meant by the perversity of inanimate objects. You reach for a pencil, an inanimate object, but don't reach far enough. You just touch it and it rolls to the edge of the desk where gravity takes over.

You step on a banana peel, another inanimate object and Sir Ike again takes over.

FRICION, TOO, is another great invention but, like gravity, is two-faced. Friction makes things hang together, sometimes making gravity look silly. But it also makes inanimate objects perverse. Like trying to open a jar of pickles. The lid sticks and you bang it against a wall. When you try it again, it suddenly gives and you've got a mess.

Sometimes gravity and friction work in cahoots.

FRICION HOLDS the catsup in the neck of the bottle and you wham the bottom. Off the bottle, that is. Then gravity tries to be helpful. And, whoosh—you can't see the hamburger for the processed tomato.

Yes, that day when Newton came into the world was a great day.

It entitled me to drop 600 words into this space and no lump on my head.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: I am an intelligent girl. I hold down a good job, but need a little help with my love life. I have been going with a very eligible man for several months. I know he is crazy about me, and he is the man I want to marry. He can give me everything I want in life — social position, financial security, and the works. I am having trouble getting him even to talk about marriage. I have given him all the encouragement a man could want. I have led this horse to water. Now, how do I make him drink? —ANXIOUS TO WED

DEAR ANXIOUS: You can't so take off the spurs, sister. This "horse" could turn out to be a camel.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is married to a very peculiar girl. Last month my husband suddenly fell ill and we rushed him to the hospital for an emergency operation. I wrote our son telling him about it, but we hear nothing from him. Finally, when his father was out of danger, I telephoned our son to tell him the good news. He said he didn't know his father had been sick! Then his wife wrote us a nasty letter saying she never gave our son the letter because she "didn't want him worrying about any of his folks," and, "please not to write him any more bad news." Can you imagine the nerve of

DEAR ABBY: In your column you said, "Love is a two-handed game and it is impossible to be 'in love' alone." I have to disagree with you. According to you, it is not possible to be in love with someone who doesn't love you. I know for sure that I was in love with someone who didn't even know I was alive. I'm no youngster, Abby. I am old enough to be your mother. Please either retract your statement or explain it. I don't get it. —SEVENTY PLUS

DEAR SEVENTY: It is possible to "love" someone, but in order to be "in love"—it must be mutual.

DEAR ABBY: Being totally deaf since childhood, I can only say "bless you" for the understanding you showed for the hard-of-hearing and deaf. I wonder how many people know that Helen Keller, who is both blind and deaf, once said, "I would rather have my sense of hearing than my sight!" —MAKING THE BEST OF IT

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who was married before. He keeps all of his ex-wife's letters, their marriage certificate and an album full of pictures of them together taken while they were still married. I feel that either he should send those things back to her or throw them out but he refuses to. I am very hurt and jealous over this and it bothers me a lot. We have agreed to go along with your answer. —SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND: Your husband obviously does not want to part with those souvenirs yet. Compromise. Ask him to bundle up all the memories and store them out of sight. To insist that he destroy them would be a mistake. When he's ready to do it on his own, he will.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Amy F., Father O'H., and Mrs. D. D. K. I am returning your money. Sorry, but I do not sell my own books. If your local bookstore doesn't have "Dear Teen-Ager," ask them to order it for you.

Are things rugged? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and don't forget a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Joan Crawford and Clark Gable were starred in "Possessed" at the Friday and Saturday night film show at the local theater.

Some excitement was aroused here as reports came that traces of oil were shown in a water well drilled near Beaumont.

The Friendly Aid committee of the chamber of commerce reported 40 families were aided here at Christmas time.

BOB CONSIDINE:

Looking Back at 1961, It Was a Very Busy Year

NEW YORK—A reporter's irrelevant and perhaps irrelevant memories of a busy year:

January — Joseph P. Kennedy, speaking in his office about his son's impending inauguration. How many states would JFK have won if he had not been a Catholic, I asked the tough-minded father. "Fifty!" he snapped. . . . The endless prayers at the inaugural, interrupted by what appeared at first to be a puff of smoke from Purgatory, but which turned out to be a short circuit under the lectern on the capital steps. When it was all over and we moved on, numb with the cold, George Dixon said, "I felt sorry for the two fellows who didn't get on — the Zen-Buddhist and the guy who was going to offer human sacrifice."

February — A Canadian priest who is president of a new college in darkest Africa told us a story of Communist thoroughness in the recruitment of African students. He posted a notice from Moscow that it was interested in defraying the expenses of any student who wished to leave Africa for an extended course at the University of Moscow. One boy was attracted and signed an application. A year later the priest was on home leave and in a Ottawa hospital, undergoing treatment. He received a call from the Soviet ambassador to Canada. Would the priest be kind enough to call at the embassy? He called. The ambassador demanded to know why the obscure student from the remote college in a land few had ever heard of had not reported to Moscow.

March — A German nun led her class of sixth grade girls into the oven room at Dachau, where I was taking some notes for a series on Eichmann. I asked her why. She looked at the sombre faces of the little girls. "So they'll see what men are capable of when they try to live without God," she said in quiet damnation of the Nazis.

Marriages Leading
April — Wilbur Clark, looking over Las Vegas' Strip, whose nation devil once was Bugsy Siegel, musing about its changes: "More marriages than divorces now. It is becoming the country's number one convention town; even the Seventh Day Adventists are coming. The big gambler is gone but there are a dozen small ones to take his place. We sold the Desert Inn for twelve million, leased it back for a hundred thousand a month, and we're doing better than we did when we owned it."

May — A hillside of reporters and cameramen at Cape Canaveral praying "Go! Go! Go!" as Comdr. Alan Shepard's Redstone lifted itself with terrifying lethargy.

June — The realization that, in his wife, the President had an extraordinary and probably unprecedented aide in his relations with foreign peoples. Jacqueline wowed them in Paris, Vienna and London. . . . And the memory of a murky sitting room in Salazar's modest mansion in Lisbon. A thoughtful gray man came in, shuffling some papers. We thought he was a clerk, about to take us to his leader. He put out his hand, to shake. "Salazar," he said.

July — Life in the International Set at Palma, Majorca. One night Rainier played the drums in the band at the Son Vida, while Elsa Maxwell played piano and smoked a cigar. Elsa looked startlingly like Winston Churchill, but played better. At dinner, her Serene Highness Princess Grace De Monaco said her daughter received her first paint set not long ago, and came to her mother deeply troubled after testing it. "Brown," the little princess said, "is such a sad color."

In East Berlin
August — A night club in East Berlin, while the wall was being built. It was the "Melodie," and there must have been 300 East Germans in there, dancing and drinking the wine, while the rest of the battered city lay dead around them. "Playboys of the Eastern World," Serge Fliegers muttered.

September — The first successful test of a silo-based Titan ICBM at Vandenberg AFB. A solid year of preparation and many millions of dollars had gone into it. The colossal thing took off and performed perfectly. First person to speak was a strapping Martin engineer. "I feel like I've just had a baby," he said, awed.

October — "It's a tough year for Babe Ruth," somebody said at the world series in Cincinnati. "Maris breaks his home run record, Ford breaks his world series pitching record and when his new saloon opens Toots Shor will break the rest of Babe's records."

November — In a blindingly lighted restaurant in Verona, a new insight to America's complex role in the world: "I'm married to a German girl," the Japanese-American major remarked, "but our children speak mostly Italian."

December — The Duke of Windsor had not read a story stating that Princess Margaret named her baby David after him. "Really?" he said, surprised. "Haven't seen my niece in years. Never met the chap she married, but he seems like a very good photographer."

P.S. As predicted, Toots wiped out Babe's remaining records.

When the clouds of doubt, and fear, and tension loom angry in the heart's sky, men turn to various gods for comfort. Some seek the opiate gods that numb them to realities. Some worship at the altars of cowardice, offering up pitiful portions of their birthright in the vain hope of currying some small favor.

But it is to the one God who created men, all things, that we must turn if we are to find the guidance and the courage and the blessing that will dispel the clouds and reveal the path, the only path, that leads to our destiny of peace and freedom.

"A world at prayer will be a world at peace."

In those simple meaningful words a Roman Catholic priest has ignited a crusade for personal prayer, for family prayer, that is spreading around the world. In the Philippines, in Canada, among the Mau Mau of Africa, in England, in Australia and New Zealand, the Reverend Patrick Peyton has already awakened in the hearts of millions of all faiths the challenging assurance of the power of prayer. His gentle crusade continues in California this month then heads again across the seas.

Hardhead Caution Is Watchword

Wall Street Chatter
NEW YORK (UPI)—Hardhead thinking and increased caution should be the investment watchwords for 1962, according to Roger E. Spear, president of Spear & Staff, Inc.

In a basically bullish forecast for the first half of the year, Spear predicts that the Dow-Jones industrial average probably will not fall below 600-700 and, barring unforeseen adverse developments, will hit a high in the 780-800 area, some 10 per cent above the present level.

Standard & Poor's "outlook" says the stock market enters the new year with prospects pointing to a record high in business, profits and dividends, all of which could lead to still higher share prices. Nonetheless, it foresees a more labored advance with wider corrective swings than in 1961 and thinks that investment programs should now be tempered with caution.

John H. Lewis & Co. says both its intermediate term indicator and velocity charts suggest that the market is now a or close to its ultimate peak over the intermediate term.

Even the DJ industrial average cannot continue to advance if the majority of listed stocks continues to decline, Reynolds & Co. points out. Therefore the brokerage house again recommends that traders stay relatively liquid for the time being.

TAKES NEW NAME
BEIRUT (UPI) — American writer Alfred Lilienthal has adopted the Arabic name "alFard Adou Thamen Israel (Alfred, the Father of Israel?)" the newspaper The Daily Star reported.

It quoted Lilienthal, an ardent anti-Zionist, as saying he changed his name "because my book 'What Price Israel?' is better known than I am."

Lilienthal is a frequent visitor to the Arab Middle East and author of books about the Arab-Israeli problem.

Friday Jan. 5

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have a wonderful day and evening really to put into a very sensible and practical groove and expression those brilliant plans with which you were so imbued the past two days. Forget all that daydreaming, get down to brass tacks and be very specific in letting all constructive persons know of your true ambitions.

ARIES (Birthdays from Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — By getting out into the world of activity early, you will find that you can make great progress whether in business, artistic or civic affairs. Work for greater prestige and fame by being courteous without sacrificing personality.

TAURUS (Birthdays from Apr. 20 to May 20) — Look to new acquaintances for the constructive ideas you need at this time. They will gladly help you with advice and support provided your aims are of the highest. Make it your business to turn them into long-time friends.

GEMINI (Birthdays from May 21 to June 21) — Be sure you get bookkeeping up-to-date and impress higher-ups with your desire to get all fundamental conditions in good order. See that insurance and taxes are paid up. Don't neglect romance during spare time. Be playful, happy.

MOON CHILDREN (Birthdays from June 22 to July 21) — Sit down and analyze what your present position is with associates as well as make constructive plans for the future. Be cooperative, stick to ideals and sound policies. Then get out to dinner in the evening and be happy.

LEO (Birthdays from July 22 to Aug. 21) — By getting an early start, you will be able to rid yourself of pressing duties that must be handled efficiently and quickly. Procrastination can only make it impossible for you to avail yourself of the fine opportunities ahead.

VIRGO (Birthdays from Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — See that your filing is brought up-to-date and then make practical plans for future activities. Get the cooperation of regular associates. Then the evening is free for joviality with friends you most enjoy. Be alive, happy.

LIBRA (Birthdays from Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — While you enjoy a comfortable home life, it would be wise to see what close ties like to do and plan future activities graciously. Take it easy tonight, read your paper, retire early.

SCORPIO (Birthdays from Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Every opportunity is yours now to commercialize on constructive ideas you have formulated. Also, whatever you need to purchase as working equipment can be found easily and at the right price. P.M. Peruse your paper for further ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (Birthdays from Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Sagittarians are particularly desirous of living graciously, but it requires a little more effort in order to get the wherewithal with which to buy things. So, be sure to concentrate on financial matters now that increase your income.

CAPRICORN (Birthdays from Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — The power of the planets is with you today, so be sure others don't keep you from going after your aims in a positive fashion. Be sure what it is you want, then use the direct approach in stating your desires. P. M. Fine socially.

AQUARIUS (Birthdays from Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Deep concentration in the solitude of your chamber will reveal how you can make your life more harmonious and successful. Follow the inspired thoughts and hunches that you get. Be happy tonight with individuals you truly like.

PISCES (Birthdays from Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Contact that older person or one whose experience is greater than yours for the advice and support you need at this time. He, or she, will be very cooperative, helpful. Tonight you are able to forget worry and have a wonderful time.

If Your Child Is Born Today. There is every opportunity for this bright youngster to know early what post or profession he, or she, wants in life and then quietly and steadfastly to work toward such aim. Perseverance is a great virtue here, as well as patience, so anything that is connected with real estate, the production of sound, mining and business are best for your fine offspring.

Americans Churned Up Lots of Smog

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans smoked more this year than ever before, the Agriculture Department said.

However, the department estimated that less snuff was dipped in 1961 than in 1960, and about the same amount of tobacco was chewed this year as last.

The department estimated U.S. cigarette output and consumption this year at a record 528 billion cigarettes, 4 per cent more than last year.

Smokers paid more than $6.9 billion for their cigarettes in 1961, about $3.1 billion of which went into federal, state and local excise taxes.

It was the fifth consecutive increase in cigarette consumption, and the department said it expected another increase next year.
